An exciting occasion is upon us...

The unveiling of our new website!

Andy has managed to get our website sorted out and has completely started from scratch with a new look and content management system - so now we can update news, pictures and other stuff on there to share with you all! We have kept it pretty simple this time to make it easier to manage and keep up to date. Hope you enjoy it!

On another note, things have been going very well lately - the pregnancy is continuing and I am growing extremely fast - quite a change and takes some adjusting to, but it is a lot of fun as well! Feeling the baby move and kick around just brings a smile to my face all the time and she is doing great - we can't wait to meet her!

Andy has been very busy with the network at the YWAM campus lately - coordinating the upgrading of the new system and overseeing the installation etc during his free time... but he has been enjoying it as well :-)

We just got back this weekend from a double thanksgiving! We celebrated thanksgiving at the YWAM campus on Thursday night with everyone, as Andy needed to do some work up there - and then Friday we drove up to Andy's parents to celebrate his Dad's birthday with another great thanksgiving celebration! Talk about Turkey! But boy, we can never get enough pumpkin pie! Yummie!!

Well we trust that this news finds you well and we send our love and blessings!

We have archived all the newsletters and blogs that we have written over the past few years so you can still read back over any of them if you want to! We'll be constantly adding new entries and you'll be able to access them by the monthly archives.

PAGES

We have kept the links to some of the pages from our old website so you can still check out our wedding pictures, and more details about us!

PICTURES

We have been busy taking pictures again now that we have another camera!! Yay! Our old camera went missing in July and since then we hadn't taken any pictures. But now that we have a new one we have been busy making up for it taking tons of pictures of the pregnancy, visits with friends and most recently thanksgiving dinner with Andy's family!
